SPRING 2013

WITH LOV

SPRING IS A TIME WHEN EVERYTHING WAKES UP BECAUSE WINTER IS OVER.

We emerge, ready for the amazing, colourful sunny days ahead. Flowers come into bloom. The world begins to transform, and the doldrums of winter disappear. We are also ready to shed those bulky winter layers and have some fun.

AND, PERHAPS, FALL IN LOVE.

LOVE IN BLOOM IS A RECURRING THEME FOR SPRING, AND WHAT BETTER WAY TO CELEBRATE THAN THROUGH THE ICONIC COMIC BOOK CHARACTERS OF ARCHIE, BETTY AND VERONICA,

who come from a time when the notion of falling in love possessed a certain uncomplicated innocence. Archie's Girls, our spring colour collection, is all about these two young ladies, each having very different personalities and looks (much like the ones you can find here at M·A·C), vying for the same boy's attention.

IT'S ABOUT HEARTS, THE SODA FOUNTAIN,
THE CHARM OF THE 50s, 60s AND 70s

when two of my favourite television shows, I Love Lucy and The Mary Tyler Moore Show, attached a sense of humour to every silly situation their leading ladies got themselves into. Of course, it always ended up being a very positive experience, with the proper lessons learned.

SPRING IS ALSO ABOUT THE NOTION
OF HOPE. As I mentioned, it's a time for renewal.

Winter's hibernation has ended and strength – being mentally and physically fine-tuned – comes back into focus. IN THIS ISSUE WE HAVE A WONDERFUL PIECE BY A PROFESSIONAL FEMALE BODYBUILDER WHO EXUDES INCREDIBLE STRENGTH WHILE AT THE SAME TIME BEING ÜBER-FEMININE.

Jelena Abbou takes us through a journey of what her days are like: the food she eats, her workout routines, how she spends free time. Her dedication to personal wellness is inspiring.

WE'RE ALSO IN THE PHOTOGRAPHY STUDIO WITH A BEHIND-THE-SCENES LOOK AT WHAT GOES INTO OUR MAKEUP SHOTS.

We're introducing new foundation and skin care collections that are inspired by the studio work of our favourite artists and photographers – products that take artistry to its highest level, the ones M·A·C Artists can't live without.

EACH OF OUR NEW COLLECTIONS AND EDITORIALS CREATE DISTINCT POINTS
OF VIEW, WOVEN INTO A SEASON THAT CELEBRATES THE INDIVIDUAL WHILE
CHAMPIONING PERSONAL RENEWAL
AND GROWTH. Let us take you back to a time where things were innocent, less complicated.

FEEL FREE TO BE INSPIRED, to have your own love affair with spring.

WE WON'T STOP YOU.

MINERALIZE

MINERALIZE RICH LIPSTICK

M·A·C's love affair with lips – with their ability to transform the face with softness, drama, glamour – has led to the launch of a new M·A·C masterpiece. Introducing Mineralize Rich Lipstick – it's larger in size and scope and lavishes lips with nutrient-rich moisture. Featuring a luxurious formula and gorgeous colour, enhanced with a 77-Mineral Moist Complex that provides lips with nourishment and lasting hydration. The impact is instant – softer, smoother, more supple lips that are luminous and shiny. Lightweight colour glides on with ease for intense, bright shade retention. Its bigger bullet spotlights a stylish new case with a magnetic closure, delivering fuller, sleeker, quicker application in a single stroke. 12 new shades cover the glamour gamut.

MINERALIZE RICH LIPSTICK: COLOUR TRANSFORMED

M·A·C MINERALIZE HAS PRODUCED SOME OF OUR MOST ICONIC POWDERS AND FACE PRODUCTS TO DATE. SPRING 13 MARKS OUR NEWEST FORAY INTO THE MINERALIZE WORLD WITH THE GLOBAL LAUNCH OF THE MINERAL RICH LIPSTICK COLLECTION. TO LEARN MORE ABOUT THIS COLLECTION, WE SAT DOWN WITH JENNIFER BALBIER – SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT, GLOBAL PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT, M·A·C COSMETICS – TO DISCUSS THE INSPIRATION BEHIND THE MINERALIZE EXPANSION, HOW THE DIFFERENT INTERNATIONAL MARKETS INFLUENCED THE FINAL COLOUR PALETTE AND WHAT'S IN STORE FOR THE FUTURE OF M·A·C MINERALIZE.

WHAT INSPIRED M·A·C TO EXPAND MINERALIZE INTO LIPSTICKS?

Mineralize is very important to us, but based on the marketplace, we also know that lipsticks are becoming more popular. People are weaning off lipglosses, but don't necessarily want a heavier lipstick. Our aim was to create something that was gel-based and more lightweight, but we wanted to get all the goodies in it – these good-for-you minerals. We added the 77-Mineral Moist Complex so that it would give total colour clarity and super smooth-looking lips.

WHAT WAS THE PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT PROCESS LIKE? M·A·C LIPSTICKS ARE SO ICONIC AND THIS IS VERY DIFFERENT FROM ANYTHING ELSE YOU'VE PUT ON THE MARKET.

We have our own panel of 150 Artists from all over the world that we test with to see what they think. We also evaluate the products backstage. For the Mineralize Rich Lipstick, we compared 2-3 formulas against each other backstage with the Artists who were on the shows that season. We experimented with the same formulas in different sized bullets, and that's when we realized how important this larger bullet size is – the slicing of the head had to be a certain size to lay down the right amount of product. We never launch anything we don't test. That's different; a lot of people don't do that.

DO YOU PRODUCE THE MINERALIZE RICH LIPSTICK DIFFERENTLY THAN OTHER M·A·C LIPSTICKS?

We don't produce it on traditional lipstick moulds. We run it on soft moulds – little silicone cups. This ensures that the Lipstick is not super heated, which is what causes it to get harder. It keeps it consistently soft the whole time it's being made, allowing it to deliver both the minerals and the colour. The pigments have better colour clarity in this gel-base. This is like a skin food for your lips – it's feeding and nourishing while giving super smooth colour.

HOW WAS THE COLOUR PALETTE CHOSEN?

When we were choosing shades we said, "We can't just do one colour lineup." In Japan and Korea pale corals are very trendy. Gone are the days of pink. In France, pink and red are still popular, but in Asia it's about this wash of pale coral. In Korea they get more intense with their colour, while in Rio they like brighter colours that hold a pearl. They say, "We like our faces matte, and our lips shiny." And shiny doesn't necessarily mean glossy. It's a super sexy-looking colour that almost looks as if light has diffused through it. In developing it we had to first work with the formula, and then with the shades per the different regions. You have to be interested in different ethnicities. How is this going to look on a Japanese woman? How is it going to work on an African American woman? Even though it's lighter weight, you still have to have the right coverage.

AS YOU WORK WITH DIFFERENT MARKETS, DOES THIS INFLUENCE HOW THE PRODUCT IS DEVELOPED CONCEPTUALLY?

You have to take into consideration all races and look into each market and what people really want there. That's why I thought it was so important to do special colours for each market. Originally, Asia didn't want to take these lipsticks because they didn't like the colours. So we called them and said, "We can change the shades – you sell so many Mineralize products and we want you to have the Lipstick." So we developed another lineup and they were very happy. We substituted some of the darker shades with the pale corals they really like. This is the first time that we've launched a product with regionally-relevant shades. We do regionally-relevant shades all year long, but to launch a new formula this way in a new package – it's really different.

THE MINERALIZE RICH LIPSTICK HAS A BIGGER BULLET THAN ANY OTHER M·A·C LIPSTICK – WHY IS THIS?

To get super smoothness we wanted to increase the size of the bullet. The base of the Lipstick is larger, which allows you to lay down more colour at once so you get quick colour release. But the product is lighter weight so it gives you a super smooth laydown. Also, the Mineralize Rich Lipstick is soft – we didn't want people tugging at it and breaking it, so we had to make the bullet strong enough to withstand this. We integrated different oil complexes and it's the combination of the oils and the gel texture that give the product its amazingly soft feel. Also, I have this whole thing about when you're holding the Lipstick in your hand, you should be able to swivel it in one swoop. I was driving them crazy. You want to have a smooth turn that feels luxurious in your hand. You don't want to be swiveling up and down forever.

DO YOU TEST IN EACH INDIVIDUAL MARKET?

The 150-person panel is different every year with people from regions all over the world. Plus we take the products backstage everywhere – we start at New York Fashion Week, then London, Milan and Paris. After that, the products move through Hong Kong, Beijing and Delhi. Then on to Rio and São Paulo. We always do a roundtable in New York, and I just came back from a roundtable in LA where we had 20 Artists looking at different products. They're either Senior Artists, or Artists who work at a store. We like Miami and always have a roundtable in Asia somewhere. This year it was in Korea.

WHEN M·A·C DECIDED TO START A MINERALIZE LINE, DID YOU KNOW THAT YOU WANTED TO INCLUDE A LIPSTICK COMPONENT?

No. When we started Mineralize we thought we'd just do the powders. But then it got so big and people were responding to it, so we decided to do a whole line. It became a luxe line because it's more expensive to do natural ingredients, so we thought, "Why don't we upgrade it?" I became very intrigued with this magnet on the Lipstick. If you put your Mineralize Rich Lipstick cap on, rather than clicking, it will seek the base. It's a heat-seeking magnet. I like the idea of magnets and minerals and things from the earth. The shape of the Lipstick also evokes something natural – it's sleek and sophisticated, but it's also very raw. You feel like you unearthed it. All of that adds value to its story.

IF YOU COULD TAKE MINERALIZE ANYWHERE, WHAT WOULD BE YOUR DREAM MINERALIZE PRODUCT?

It's about having smoother looking skin, which we all want. Minerals are about transformation of the skin. That's what our treatment products are, that's what the powder is – it totally transforms your skin. I would like to play more with minerals in HD. We're Makeup Artists and it's all about how things look. But originally, minerals were about how they feel – many people didn't realize that they actually look amazing, too. The dream would be to work more with high definition in minerals and go from there. Right now, people are concerned with using products that are natural and good for them, so it's important to have the Mineral story – but they also need to have that sophistication. It's luxurious. It's good for you. It has a lot of minerals in it, with the effect of the earth and the glamour of the catwalk. Next time? Maybe it will be a Mineralize matte.

MINERALIZE MOISTURE SPF 15 FOUNDATION

Its lightweight lush texture feeds skin instantly with mineral-rich nourishing hydration, all day long. The uniquely creamy fluid, ideal for dry skin, blends beautifully, providing light-to-medium buildable coverage. Featuring our 77-Mineral Complex including Shea butter, emollients and conditioning extracts to keep the face soft and supple. Also contains vitamin E, a potent antioxidant. Its combination of powders creates an optical blurring effect that virtually diminishes imperfections and fine lines, for a more even tone. The natural satin finish is light-reflecting micro-mineralized magic – skin appears refined, revitalized and refreshed with a new purity. SPF 15 adds the perfect finishing touch of sun protection.

I AM WOMAN:
FEARLESS, ELEGANT, STRONG.

We love women who strike powerful poses, stand out, redefine the notion of beauty – and do it with an inner/outer strength that's irresistible and impossible to ignore. Colour is a vehicle for women to flex their femininity and M·A·C's new collection reflects this state of mind and style. It starts with dramatic eyes defined by two Eye Shadow Quads that sculpt and highlight, precision Penultimate Eye Liner and extra-volumizing Opulash. Lips pump up with vivid colour to project power while Powder Blush in natural tones softly chisels cheeks. And, nailing it for overall presentation, M·A·C's high-gloss Nail Lacquer.

STRONG WOMAN

WHEN JELENA ABBOU WAS 16 YEARS OLD SHE WAS A SKINNY TEENAGER LIVING IN SERBIA. INSPIRED BY THE FAMOUS FEMALE BODYBUILDER CORY EVERSON, JELENA WAS THE SOLE WOMAN TO FREQUENT THE BODYBUILDING GYM OF HER SMALL HOMETOWN. AFTER AN IMPULSIVE MOVE TO THE STATES AT 20, AND A SURPRISING STRUGGLE TO FINESSE HER ROUTINE AND GAIN WEIGHT, AT 35, JELENA IS NOW A SUCCESSFUL FIGURE MODEL, AN INTERNATIONAL FEDERATION OF BODYBUILDERS PRO, A PHYSICAL TRAINER AND THE POWERFUL PHYSIQUE BEHIND OUR SPRING COLOUR COLLECTION, M·A·C STRENGTH. MORE THAN JUST HER IMPRESSIVE MUSCLES AND WORK AS A PROFESSIONAL COMPETITOR, WE ARE INSPIRED AND MOTIVATED BY JELENA'S COMMITMENT TO TOTAL EMOTIONAL AND PHYSICAL WELLNESS. TO UNDERSTAND WHAT THE LIFE OF A COMPETITIVE BODYBUILDER IS REALLY LIKE, WE ASKED HER TO GIVE US A LOOK AT HER DAILY ITINERARY, TAKING US THROUGH HER DILIGENT WORKOUT ROUTINES, STRICT EATING SCHEDULE AND FAVOURITE THINGS TO DO WHEN SHE HAS DOWN TIME. (YOU'LL BE HAPPY TO KNOW THAT SUSHI, CHOCOLATE AND HAIR-DYEING PARTIES WITH HER GIRLFRIENDS ARE ALL INVOLVED.)

SATURDAY

7:00–8:30AM Each day I usually wake up around this time and have breakfast, but since I'm getting ready for the Figure Olympia competition [an annual women's figure competition held by the International Federation of BodyBuilding and Fitness] I do my cardio session first. Before I leave for the gym I take Vitamin B complex, L-Carnitene and CLA pills. My favourite cardio machine is the stairs because they are hard work and don't bother my injuries as much. It's also helpful that I can read while I'm working out. My favourites are Allure, InStyle, Oxygen and Muscle and Fitness Hers.

8:30–9:00AM After the gym I prepare my breakfast: egg whites and either cream of rice or oats. I take MCTs [Medium-chain triglycerides] with this meal and a multi-vitamin. My breakfast doesn't change much between the off-season and when I'm preparing for a show. If I'm not dieting for a competition I may add some berries (blueberries and raspberries are my favourites) or peanut butter to my oats.

10:00AM Time to begin a fun day with my girlfriends! We're all going to watch and support another girlfriend of ours who's competing. When getting ready I love doing my hair and makeup. Today I'm wearing M·A·C Woodwinked Eye Shadow, False Lashes Mascara and Refined Gold Bronzer. On my face, just a bit of moisturizer with some concealer under my eyes — it's too hot for foundation.

1:00PM Ugh, I'm late for my next meal; that makes me cranky. That's the life of a competitor, you always have to carry something to eat and drink with you. So here I am eating my chicken, brown rice and green beans while my girlfriend is munching on a protein bar.

4:00PM Time for another meal; I'm having tilapia and string beans again. I eat healthy all year round but I do have to be very strict closer to competition time, so I stick to plain food that's all measured out.

5:00–6:00PM Nap time. This is important — I try to get in naps when I can.

6:00–6:30PM Back to the gym for another cardio session. Today I took the day off from lifting. Usually I don't have a set schedule with how I split my workouts; I like to go by how I feel. I just make sure that I lift six days a week.

7:30PM Tonight, I'm having my cheat meal of the week. It's a clean cheat so I'll have sushi. A clean cheat is when I enjoy something that's not horrible for me, but isn't part of my competition diet. I do this once a week throughout my contest prep and when I'm not dieting I allow myself small cheats during the week, whenever I feel like having them. My favourites are chocolate or homemade desserts. I try to keep it all on the healthy side — I love baking when I'm not dieting.

SUNDAY

7:30AM I like waking up at the same time every day, even on the weekends, because my body is so used to it. And with contest preparations, it helps me to stay on schedule with my meals. As usual, I'll take my supplements and begin the day with breakfast because I'm not doing any cardio today.

8:00–10:00AM (Non-workout) Work time: I make diet and workout plans for my clients and catch up on emails.

10:00–11:30AM Time for the gym, and today's workout is back and biceps. I start with my back by doing light pull-downs to warm up. Then I go into pull-ups and do 3-4 sets of 12 reps, depending on how my energy level is that day. After that I go into one-arm rows, using different machines with different grips and widths so I can ensure that I'm targeting my back from every angle. I do about 4-5 exercises for my back, keeping the range anywhere from 8-12 reps.

11:30AM Right after my workout I make sure to have a protein shake with added glutamine for a quick recovery.

1:00PM Now it's time for a bit of relaxation. I have the luxury of eating lunch while my girlfriend colours my hair. What great friends I have. We have an awesome time catching up, and, as an added bonus, I didn't have to suffer a long wait at the salon.

3:00–5:00PM I prefer to prepare most of my food in advance, particularly my chicken, fish, sweet potatoes and rice. Having my meals pre-prepared helps me stay on track with my competition diet. Now they're all measured, packed and ready to go.

5:00PM Time for another meal. I make sure to eat every three hours. Tonight it's lean beef and salad. I always love a good salad, but I do miss my off-season salad when I add lots of good things that are not in my competition diet, like nuts, cranberries and fat-free feta cheese. It may sound too strict but I do make sure I live a little – I don't do this all the time. As strict as it is, being a figure competitor is a full-time job between the food preparation and all of the training. No matter what, I always make sure there are healthy choices in my house so I have good snacks on hand.

7:00PM I'm going to spend the rest of the evening catching up on emails, reading or having dinner with my friends. It helps me to have friends that either compete or live a very healthy lifestyle – that way we can all prepare food together and they understand what it takes. Other women either respect what we do and love it, or they hate it. I get a lot of questions from women about how I manage to look so muscular, but yet still feminine and not like a guy. A lot of men are intimidated by how strong I am, although many find it attractive. Some people think it's crazy what we do, but that's the nature of the sport.

MONDAY

7:00AM Wake up and it's time for cardio. I am so not feeling it this morning but I have no choice. The one thing that keeps me going? Knowing that it's all going to be worth it in the end. Working on what you have, making it your own and being your best – that's what makes me feel the most feminine. I'm in the best shape of my life, have kept my curves and still feel sexy. That's definitely worth the 7am workout.

8:00AM Post-workout breakfast. I ran out of cream of rice, so I'm using oat bran today with liquid egg whites and lots of cinnamon. Don't forget the multi-vitamin!

9:00AM–12:00PM At work training clients.

12:00PM I'm a little late for my lunch so I have to eat in my car. I usually do this while driving between clients, but today I'm driving to NYC for a modelling audition.

3:00–5:00PM Relaxing, reading, Facebook time and answering emails.

5:30PM Drinking my BCAA [Branched Chain Amino Acid] supplement on the way to the gym for my favourite leg workout. This helps me build lean muscle while also aiding my post-workout recovery. I like doing legs twice a week, and I prefer to emphasize the quads one day and hamstring and glutes the next. My rep range for legs spans anywhere from 12 to even 50 reps for a walking lunge. I don't do heavy lifting for legs anymore because I'm happy with my size. Right after I've finished my leg workout I do another session of cardio. Then I finish up with lots of stretching and foam rolling.

7:00PM Dinner time. Nothing exciting here, I'm afraid. Same old chicken and veggies. I do keep things interesting by using different spices and herbs (Mrs. Dash is a favourite) and alternating between chicken, extra-lean turkey and fish. For me the diet is not much of a problem. It does get a little annoying when you are at a restaurant and you have to ask the server how it's prepared and then specify "no sauce, please, and no butter, no oil."

10:00PM Reading before I go to sleep. Good rest for tomorrow, so I can wake up energized to do it all over again.
